What's the first word that comes to mind when I say the word “conflict” ?

SESSION #1 REVIEW - WHAT DO YOU REMEMBER FROM CHARLES?

Connected Conversations Review

Conversations are the foundation of everything. The stronger and deeper the conversations, the stronger and deeper the relationship. We can't have a deep relationship if we're only having shallow conversations.

SESSION #2 OVERVIEW

- Review Dynamics of Conflict
- Conversation Preparation and Skills
- Take-Aways:
 - > Better understanding of your approach to conflict
 - > Skills to address conflict
 - > Tool to prepare for a conversation about a conflict

Conflict, at its core, is a COMMUNICATION problem. We tend to think of that as how we speak. Just for today, consider that it starts with how we listen – actively, non-verbally signaling that you are interested in what the other person has to say, not just waiting for your turn to speak.

It's the HOW of inclusivity!

WHAT IS CONFLICT?

DEFINING CONFLICT

#1: Arises from Differences in People's:

- Goals
- Perceptions
- Understanding
- Values
- Expectations
- Status
- Culture
- Behavior

#2: Conflict is

- Natural
- Normal
- Inevitable

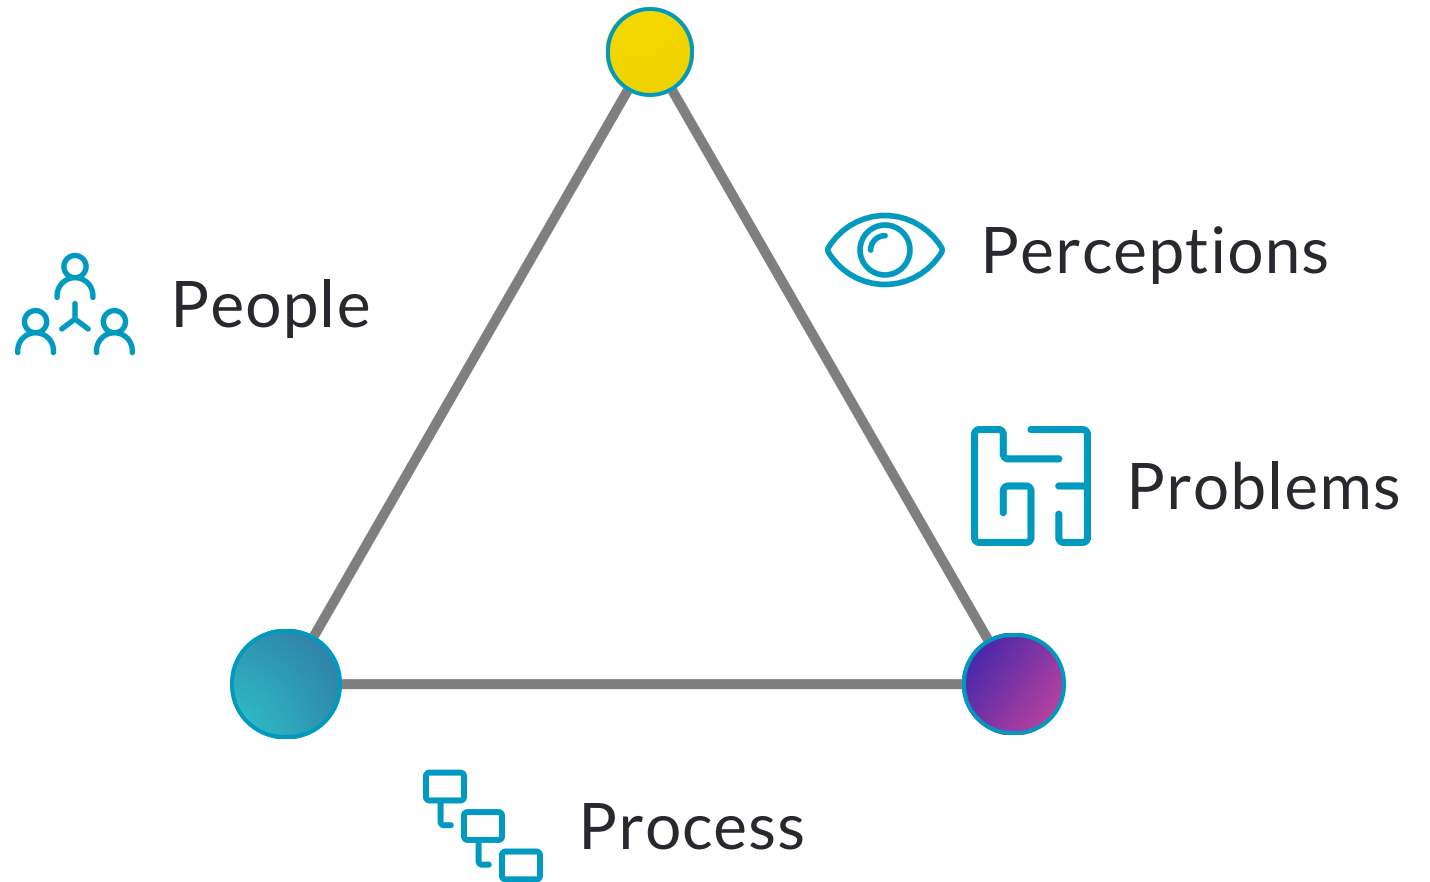

#3: Conflict Should Be Seen As:

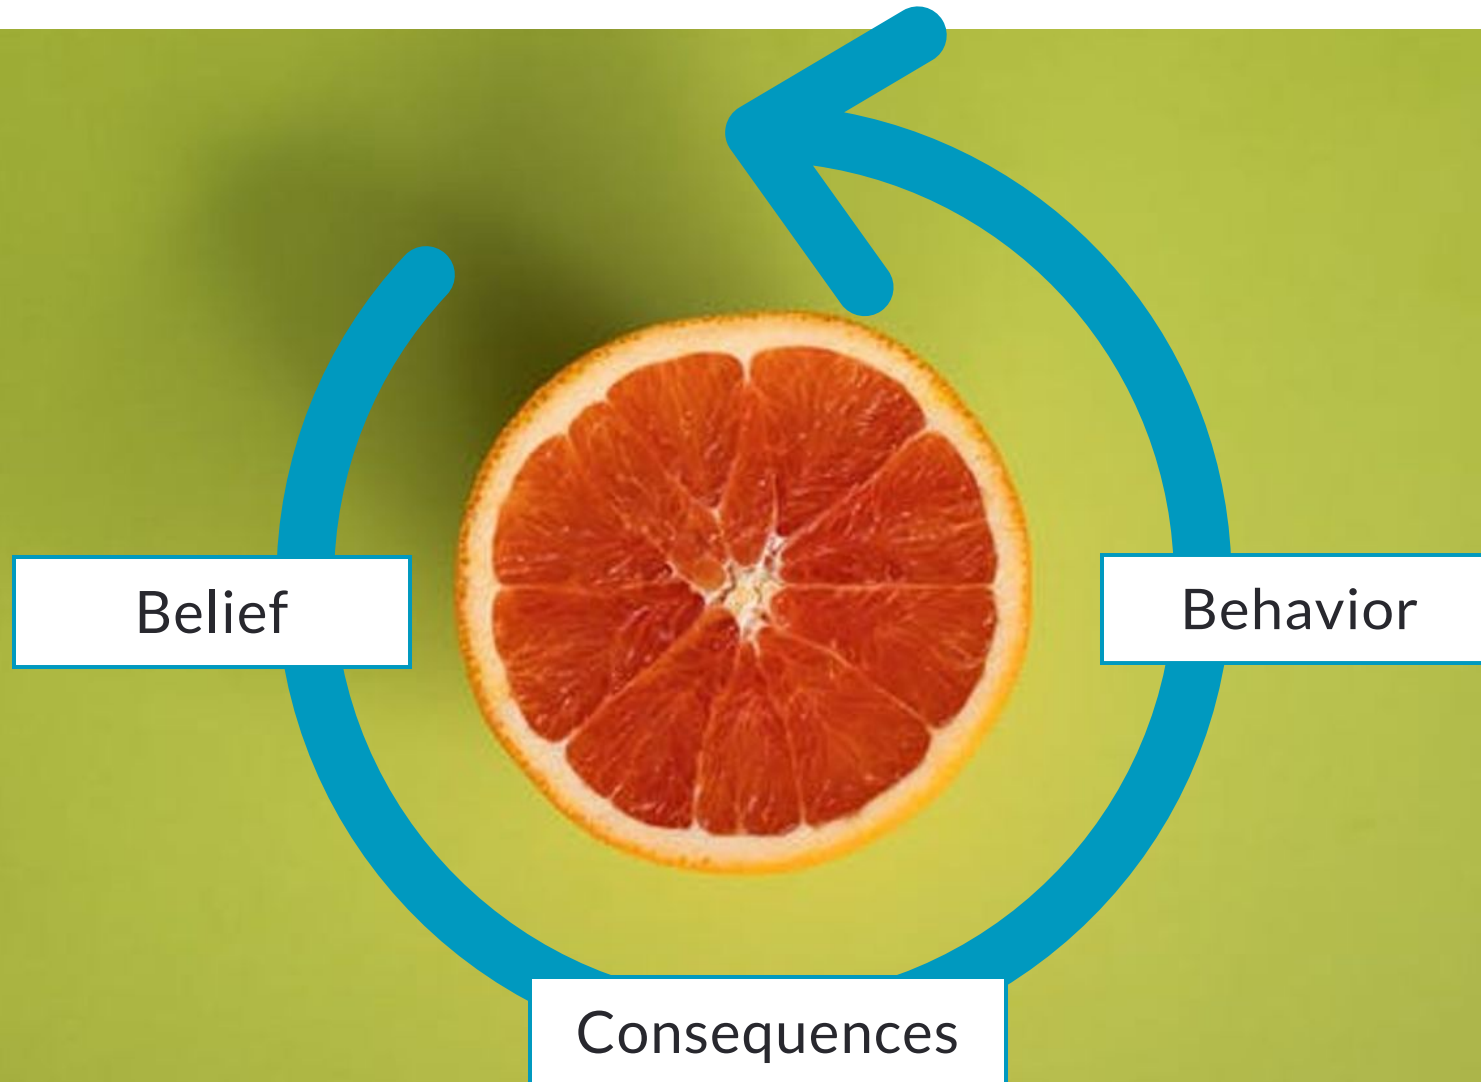

- Opportunity!
- Part of your “Connected Conversations”
- Addressed Assertively

THE CONFLICT TRIANGLE

One way to analyze conflict is to see it as having three sides, like a triangle:

THE DYNAMICS OF CONFLICT

CONFLICT MANAGEMENT STYLES

What was your top result?

The screenshot shows the top of a webpage for a conflict styles assessment. At the top, there is a dark blue banner with the text "USIP ANNOUNCES FINALISTS FOR THE 2020 WOMEN BUILDING PEACE AWARD". Below this is the USIP logo and navigation links for "Experts", "Regions", "Issue Areas", "Education & Training", and "Events". The main heading is "Conflict Styles Assessment", with options to "Share This" and "Print the Page". A prominent "Start Survey" button is visible. Below the button, there is an "Introduction" section with the text: "How do you tend to respond to conflict? Your conflict style represents your inclination, or natural tendency, when faced with a situation of conflict."

REACTIONS

- 1) Do you agree with the results of the assessment?
- 2) Were there any surprises in your results?
- 3) Do the results help explain how things have gone previously for you in conflict scenarios in the workplace?

APPROACHING VS. AVOIDING CONFLICT

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

- Why do people want to avoid conflict?
 - Discomfort
 - Fear of being hurt
 - Fear of losing
 - Need to be “right”
 - Concern with justice and fairness
 - Pride
 - Anger
 - Believe it won't work
- What happens to the conflict when we avoid it?

HOW ARE YOU IN CONFLICT?

- 1 Passive? (Too Cold)
- 2 Aggressive? (Too Hot)
- 3 Assertive? (Just Right)

What is your initial response to conflict?

Assertive

Aggressive

Passive

SCENARIO #1: INTERPERSONAL CONFLICT

Simon works as an engineer in a software firm and loves his job very much. He is hardworking and always on time at work. His co-worker Jimmy often comes late to work and tries to find loopholes, so he can do the least amount of work. Both work on the same project and report to the same supervisor.

The company has a policy that if an employee comes late to work, he has to meet with his supervisor before starting work. One day Jimmy came in 40 minutes late to work. Out of concern, Simon reminded Jimmy about the company policy, stressing he should meet his supervisor. Jimmy got angry and told Simon that their supervisor will never know he was late. Jimmy continues to come late for the next few days.

Upset with Jimmy's behavior, Simon decides not to talk to him. This is an interpersonal conflict between these co-workers.

SCENARIO #2: TEAM-TO-TEAM CONFLICT

Sana and Mike work in a cloud services firm. Sana is a part of the development team and writes code for cloud applications. Mike's work is dependent on Sana's because he tests the applications, which puts him in a different department.

Sana's performance is good, but most of the time she is unable to keep up with the timelines. This delay in her deliverables makes Mike work under pressure to finish his tasks on time. Due to this interdependence at the workplace, Mike gets upset with Sana when he doesn't receive the application code on time.

This is team-to-team conflict, since it shows a failure in one's accountability towards another.

SCENARIO #3: TASK-CENTERED CONFLICT

Gigi works as a customer care executive in an online e-commerce firm. She responds to customer queries through phone and email. Gigi loves her job and tries to keep a high quality of service at work.

Ziara is the head of the customer care team and manages Gigi directly. Ziara insists her team members have a minimum turnaround time for customer queries and does not bother much with the quality of service.

Gigi is upset with the working style of her manager, which sometimes results in heated arguments. Conflicts like these cause confusion and resentment.

ASSERTIVENESS: JUST RIGHT

Express yourself in positive and confident way.

Be aware that you are a worthy person with your own special gifts.

Recognize that others are also worthy and deserving of respect.

Think for yourself and express your own ideas.

Be open to hearing new and different ideas – and be willing to be changed as a result of hearing them.

Know where you stand without stepping on anyone else's toes.

Expect respect and demonstrate respect to others.

PRACTICE ASSERTIVENESS

Phrases to practice being more assertive in a conversation:

“I have a concern about...”

“I have some ideas about how we can make things better...”

“Help me understand...”

WHERE ARE YOU IN CONFLICT?

- 1 Are you directly involved in the conflict?
- 2 Do you have an interest in the outcome?
- 3 Are your own ideas, thoughts, and feelings at stake?

USE “I” MESSAGES

“I” Message Formula:

“When ... (describe what happened)

”I felt... (describe your feeling)

“Because (describe consequences)

I-Messages Examples

- “Ann, you’re late again and you’re making me late for a meeting.”
- “When people are late, I feel frustrated because work is delayed and we have to take time to tell the late person what is happening.”
- “You wouldn’t talk to me, you just yelled, so you didn’t get what you wanted.”
- “When I don’t know what’s wrong, I get really worried about you and I don’t know how to help.”

Remember: Say what you observed, what you felt, what resulted.

HANDOUT/PRACTICE

PREPARING THE CONFLICT CONVERSATION

PLAN FOR IMPORTANT CONVERSATIONS

1. Take time to think about what you want to achieve.
2. First, just think about your own responses.
3. Then, consider how the other person might respond.
4. Be honest with yourself
 - What are you feeling?
 - How important is this to you?
 - What do you want the other person to understand about you and the issue or concern?

DURING THE CONFLICT CONVERSATION

Listen

- Display genuine interest in what the other person has to say.
- Be open to new information -- you don't know what the other person will say.
- Be patient; hear the person out.
- Check your understanding of what was said.
- Reflect back or summarize what you heard or understood

Listening is NOT

- Responding with your own ideas
- Simply waiting for your "turn" to speak
- Problem-solving
- Giving your opinion
- Sharing your own experiences

Reflecting After / Preparing for the Next Conversation

How do you feel? Is the issue resolved for you? For the other person?

What did you learn about yourself, the other person, and the issue?

What might you do differently next time?

What worked?

UNCONSCIOUS BIAS & COMMUNICATION IN THE WORKPLACE

DEFINING UNCONSCIOUS BIAS

Unconscious Biases are any prejudices we may have, of which we are unaware.

We naturally categorize people based on physical qualities and a person's background- i.e. their ethnicity, education, etc.

- We are human and our brains are built to gravitate towards what is familiar to us!
- Even though we may set out with the best of intentions, the way our brain is wired and the context of the decision making can affect how our intention translates into action.

ACTIVITY

If you can read this paragraph, it's because our minds are very good at putting together pieces of information in a way that is easy for us to make sense of. Our minds do this automatically, without our conscious control.

TYPES OF UNCONSCIOUS BIAS

Affinity Bias

Feeling a connection to those similar to us

Perception Bias

Stereotypes and assumptions about different groups

Halo Effect

Projecting positive qualities onto people without actually knowing them

Confirmation Bias

Looking to confirm our own opinions and pre-existing ideas.

OUR BRAIN MAKES 1000S OF DECISIONS EVERY DAY

TWO SYSTEM BRAIN: THINKING FAST AND SLOW

System 1

Fast, intuitive and emotional

System 2

Slow, conscious and effortful

Our brain can easily misfire and mistakenly recall information, which influences our decision-making.

ROLE PLAY: GENERATIONAL CONFLICT

Eric and Jill are on the same team at work. A conflict arises between the two during a meeting with other staff.

ROLE PLAY REACTIONS

- > What did you observe? Type your answers in the chat.
- > What would you do in this scenario?
